PREFACE

NEARLY all of the first settlers of the various families to which these sketches relate came from England or Wales. Many held strong religious convictions, and a large number were followers of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends (Quakers), whose influence also caused William Penn to accept that faith. Among the latter group were some from the lower Rhine section of Holland and Germany, who had recently accepted Fox's religious views, which were similar, in many ways, to the Mennonite teachings of their ancestors. These located a few miles north of Philadelphia, in the section now called Germantown, in the province of Pennsylvania, which, in 1681, had been granted to Penn by the English Crown in payment of a loan made to Charles II by Sir William Penn, father of the founder.

An endeavor has been made to trace the ancestors of these early settlers, both in Pennsylvania and abroad, with more or less success. A large majority of them came to America between 1628 and 1725, seeking religious liberty and greater opportunities for themselves and their descendants. They were sturdy pioneers in an undeveloped country. Not all had settled originally in Pennsylvania, but in time, scions of those families which had begun pioneer life in New England, Long Island or New Jersey, made their way to Pennsylvania, whose peace and tranquillity were unmatched elsewhere.

The tracing of the lines of descent from these various early settlers, as given in the following sketches, should be a great satisfaction to the many true Americans of today.

Most of the data in these sketches has been taken from Meeting, Church and Family records, with some additions from Genealogical and Historical works, including "Historical Collections of Gwynedd," "Old Richland Families," "Early Friends Families of Upper Bucks," and "Merion in The Welsh Tract." There are, no doubt, some errors, but with assistance and checking by such able genealogists as Mr. Charles R. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Ely and others, I believe and hope there are but few.

Further data relating to the families enumerated will be found in "Early Friends Families of Upper Bucks," published in 1925 by the compiler of these sketches.

* Numbers and letters shown in this column correspond, respectively, to the large size numbers which run consecutively around the circular margin of the Ancestral Chart, and the letters at the foot of same.

Example: The reference for Thomas Lloyd is 51-H. At foot of chart, find H; then follow its circular column around until it meets sector 51, where the name Thomas Lloyd is found, thus locating that family line.

Caution: In some cases, the name given in the Table of Contents is of an older generation than the earliest one given on the Chart, but will be located, under the same reference number, among the notes outside the circular margin of the Chart.

The smaller size numerals found throughout the Chart refer to the authorities cited at foot of Chart.

Adam Harker of Middletown Township, Bucks County

(See Ancestral Chart No. 51-H.)

I.

JAMES HARKER; of Grisedale, Parish of Sedbergh, Yorkshire; b. —; d. —; m. —.

(Nothing is known of this James Harker, except through mere references made to him in the marriage records of two of his sons. Perhaps he was not a Friend; such a hypothesis would account for the absence of record of his death from the Friends' Register of Yorkshire.)

Children of James Harker:

1. Adam; (of whom further).
2. James; m. (1) 2-23-1701, at Lower Bentham, Yorkshire, Elizabeth Battersbie; m. (2) — Emme —. He brought a certificate from the monthly meeting of Sedbergh, in Yorkshire, which was received by Middletown Mo. Mtg., 11-1-1718. He represented Wrightstown Preparative Meeting at Middletown Mo. Mtg., in 1724, and in the same year was appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting. He and his wife Emme were witnesses to a number of marriages; they were living in 1754, when they were both provided for in the will of Adam Harker.
3. David; had a son Adam living in 1754, and mentioned in the will of his uncle, Adam Harker.
4. Sarah; living, 1754; m. — Scott.

"GRACE HARKER

Grace Harker was born in England, about the year 1669. She was married to Adam Harker, of Middletown, Bucks county, of which meeting they were both for a long time useful members. Grace received, whilst young, a gift in the ministry, in which she laboured to the close of her life, and Adam was appointed an elder, in which station he was faithful and in good unity with his friends.

'She was,' says her memorial, 'a woman of an innocent, exemplary life and conversation, received a gift in the ministry in her young years, and was a careful attender of meetings until old age.' She died Twelfth mo. 10th, 1747, aged 78 years. Adam Harker, a few years after the decease of his wife, removed to Philadelphia. He had been very useful in religious Society; but now in extreme old age, seeking another residence, no account of his death has been preserved."

Aret Klincken (Clinkin) of Germantown†

(See Ancestral Chart No. 42-H.)

I.

ARET KLINCKEN; b. in Holland; d. in Germantown, Phila. co., Pa., 12 month (February), 1707/8; m. in Europe, Niske — (probably an abbreviated form of Agnes).
[Phila. Will Book C, p. 71.—Records of Marriages, Births and Deaths, Abington Mo. Mtg.; p. 331.]

"Arents Klincken came from Holland with William Penn in his first voyage in 1682. He had seen and known Penn in Holland. He built the first two story house ever raised in Germantown; and Penn was present and partook of the raising dinner; the same old stone house on Justus Johnson's premises. He died at the age of 80. He left a son whose name was Anthony Klincken, a great hunter who spent a long life in such exercises. He used to have the garret of the house filled in the winter with wild game, and had it marked with the date when he killed it, so as to eat it in due succession as an epicure. The same house next to Justus Johnson's premises. He even purchased a German Yager, celebrated for shooting, to aid him in his field sports; he had iron pricklers in the hands and feet to aid in climbing lofty trees for crows' scalps, which bore a premium. He used to wade the Wissahiccon in the depth of winter; finally contracted rheumatism and gout, which so ossified the flesh of his knuckles, that he could scrape chalk from them when old! He never went to Philadelphia without taking his gun with him in the spring and fall, and never came home without several geese or ducks, which he had killed in a spatterdock pond, then at the corner of Fourth and High streets! He called it the best game pond anywhere to be found. This was probably about the years 1700 to 1710. He used also to speak with wonder of seeing hundreds of rats in the flats among the spatterdocks at Pool's bridge, and that he was in the habit of killing them for amusement as fast as he could load. He was born about the year 1677, and died about 1759, aged about 82 years."

ANCESTRY OF THOMAS LLOYD

The statement has been made by several authors, that Thomas Lloyd, of Moreland, was son of Thomas and Elizabeth Lloyd, of Merion.

"Colonial Families of America," vol. V, p. 332, says that Thomas Lloyd, by his wife Elizabeth ap Edward, had a son Thomas, b. June 8, 1699, d. in Moreland, Dec. 29, 1781; m. Mary Harker and Mary Brinton.

Thomas Allen Glenn, in "Merion in the Welsh Tract," p. 379, says that Thomas Lloyd, of Merion, m. about 1698, Elizabeth dau. of William ap Edward, and had, among others, a son Thomas; b. 7- -1699, who married, and removed to and became identified with Bucks county; died prior to 1763, and left issue.

The records of Radnor Monthly Meeting show that Thomas and Elizabeth Lloyd did have a son Thomas, b. 7- -1699, and presumably the one mentioned in the will of Thomas Lloyd, the father, on 5-26-1741. It is possible that this son removed to Moreland. No certificate of removal appears to have been recorded by either Radnor or Abington Monthly Meeting, but record of certificates for that period is scanty, while the "pruning" of the Abington records has obliterated many facts. Thomas the younger, of Merion, evidently disappears from the latter neighborhood, and the presumption is strong that he removed, since he was still living in 1741, past forty years old.

The earliest record of Thomas Lloyd in the Abington minutes is of 1-30-1724, when he is granted a certificate "in Order for to Marry."

[Mins. of Abington Mo. Mtg., Pa., 1682-1746; p. 72.]

The date of his birth as recorded at Abington; namely, 3-8-1698, does not agree with the birth of Thomas, of Merion, 7- -1699. But the date of death of Thomas, of Moreland, minus his age at death, brings a result within a month of the date of birth of Thomas the younger, of Merion.

Thomas the elder of Merion, and Thomas of Moreland, each named sons John, Thomas and Evan.

* As will be seen, this does not tally with date of birth—a not unusual discrepancy. See discussion of the subject, beyond.

The Minutes of Middletown Monthly Meeting, in stating that Thomas Lloyd was directed to bring a certificate there, as a preliminary to his marriage with Mary Harker (see above), fail to name the monthly meeting from which this certificate was to be brought.

The Abington records, however, supply the following:

1-30-1724.—“A Certificate was Granted to Thomas Lloyd in Order for to Marry.”

[Minutes of Abington Mo. Mtg., Pa., 1682-1746; p. 134.]

This last record, in its turn, fails to state to what monthly meeting the certificate was to be presented; but its date, only a few days earlier than that of the declaration of first intentions at Middletown, leaves no doubt that all these records refer to the same person.

Nothing is found in the Abington Minutes to show that this Thomas Lloyd ever brought a removal certificate from any other monthly meeting to Abington, nor is his membership in Abington otherwise accounted for. There was evidently no family of Lloyd connected with this meeting at any time previous to 1724.

The marriage of Thomas Lloyd and Mary Harker is not recorded either by Middletown or by Abington. Middletown merely reports, under date of 4-4-1724, that the marriage was “orderly in the accomplishment thereof.”

[Minutes of Middletown Monthly Meeting; 1683-1754; pp. 424-5.]

As to this Thomas Lloyd's having been the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Lloyd, of Merion, no evidence is found, in the records of Radnor Monthly Meeting, that a certificate of removal was granted to a person named Thomas Lloyd, to remove to any other meeting.

The Women's Minutes of Gwynedd Monthly Meeting show that a Thomas Lloyd and a Sarah McVach (or Magvach) declared their first and second intentions of marriage before that meeting in 1729. At about this time, the Minutes are in disorder, Men's Minutes missing, etc., so that there is no report of the actual marriage. To make matters worse, the certificate is not recorded, nor are any births of children of record, so that one may not know whether or not the marriage actually took place.

This Thomas Lloyd, however, may have been son of Thomas and Elizabeth of Merion, because Robert Lloyd, nephew of Thomas and Elizabeth, produced a certificate at Gwynedd, 10-31-1734, and soon after married there.

[Abstract of Minutes of Gwynedd Mo. Mtg., 1714-1801; pp. 57, 77, etc.]

Thomas Lloyd was a farmer, and lived in Moreland township, Philadelphia (now Montgomery) county.

He attended Horsham Preparative Meeting of Friends, and on 5-31-1727, he was appointed an Overseer of that meeting. On 5-30-1733, he was made an Elder thereof.

[Mins. of Abington Mo. Mtg., Pa.; 1682-1746; pp. 153, 193.]

He was appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting, on 10-30-1728.

[Ibid.; 1746-1774; p. 227.]

I.

JAN LUCKEN† (John Lukens); b. —; d. — 1743 or 1744, at Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.; m. —, Mary Tyson (?); b. —; living in 1741.

[Phila. Will Book G, p. 147.]

Jan Lucken (or Luykens) was among those who came to Pennsylvania on the "Concord," in 1683.

[William Penn and the Dutch Quaker Migration to Pennsylvania, by William I. Hull; p. 395.]

SKETCH OF JAN LUCKEN

"Jan Lucken—the family name later being changed to Lukens—was one of the thirteen pioneer colonists of Germans who settled Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa., in 1683; whither they had mostly come from Crefeld, a city of the lower Rhine, near the border of Holland. He married in 1683, Mary —, probably Kunders, daughter of Thones Kunders, who had accompanied him to America. It has also been stated that he married Mary, sister of Reynear Tyson, who was likewise one of the company arriving on the "Concord." Jan Lucken possessed the confidence and esteem of Francis Pastorius, Christopher Sower and other leading spirits of the time, and took an active part in the government and affairs of the Germantown settlement. He was chosen constable in 1691, burgess in 1693, and sheriff 1694–5. He was also active in Friends' Meeting, being for a time overseer; and the members of his family and his descendants for six generations were actively identified with Meeting affairs, although prior to settling in Penn's New Province of Pennsylvania, like many other of the early Germantown families, Jan Lucken's family were Mennonites. About 1705 he bought an estate of 500 acres in what became known as Horsham township, Montgomery County, Pa., and in 1720 he gave 150 acres of this land to his son Peter."

[Genealogy of the Descendants of Thomas French; compiled by Howard Barclay French; vol. II, p. 361.]

WERE THE SETTLERS OF GERMANTOWN DUTCH OR GERMAN?

In the Autumn Number, 1938, of the "Bulletin of Friends' Historical Association" appeared an article "The Dutch Quaker Founders of Germantown," by William I. Hull,

* Translation: Vinum—vine. Linum—linen. Texturinum—thread.

† From investigation made in Germany in 1935, it appears that Jan Lucken was the son of Wilhelm Lucken. For further particulars, see report on the German research, following this sketch. A summary of his descent is given on page 165.

who published, in 1935, a book, "William Penn and The Dutch Quaker Migration to Pennsylvania."

The following is a summary of this (Bulletin) article:

In 1683 when the migration from Krefeld to Pennsylvania occurred, this group were ruled by the "Stadholder" of Holland, and were known as "Netherlanders"; after their arrival in Pennsylvania they were called "Pennsylvania Dutch."

The Krefeld marriage certificate of 1681 was "written in genuine Dutch," the bride—Noleken Vijten—and groom—Derick Isacks—and nearly all of the seventeen persons who signed the certificate as witnesses of the marriage ceremony became the first settlers and founders of Germantown! Indeed they included nearly all the members of the Krefeld Quaker meeting, which moved in a body across the Atlantic, and maintained this meeting in Germantown.

The Krefelders bought their Pennsylvania land in Rotterdam through Benjamin Furly, and Jacob Telner, a Dutch Quaker of Krefeld, in March and June, 1683.

The name of their settlement, "Germantown"—which was a few miles northwest of Philadelphia—was probably selected by Francis Daniel Pastorius, a German, a scholar, a historian, and, later, a leader in this Dutch settlement in Pennsylvania.

Two land companies, the "German Society" (1683–85) and the "Frankfort Company" (1686–1700) "purchased (through Pastorius in London) 25,000 acres of land in Pennsylvania," to which Penn added 18,000 acres.

Pastorius as agent of the "Frankforters," awaited their arrival until 1700, when he and Penn abandoned hope of their arrival, and Pastorius threw in his lot permanently with the Dutch Quakers of Germantown.

JAN LUKEN'S LINE OF DESCENT

From Ancestors in Germany

Translation by Wilhelm Hubben, George School, Pa.
from the German letter of Von Wilhelm Niepoth, Wesel, Germany
Written June, 1935.

In the accompanying letter, Mr. Niepoth says after a few personal remarks:

" The reader should take the time to follow also my attempts to prove. I did not only want to show my results but also show the ways that have to be taken in order to reach the goal. In doing so I could not limit the investigation to the parents and sisters and brothers of Jan Lucken, but had also to look into the other ancestors as far as that was possible without too large a work. I do not find any relations to the Luyken in Wesel, Berlin, etc. A coat of arms was not found by me and I do not believe that there exists one; documents sealed by the Lukens do not exist any more In my opinion the name of L. originates from a christian name, viz., Luck, Lück, (Luzia). This, however, could be stated definitely only after having discovered the oldest person of that name. This will be difficult. As I wrote to you, I would have to spend some time in Düsseldorf. But I have plenty of work to do"

THE PARENTS AND ANCESTORS OF JOHANN LUCKEN

by Wilhelm Niepoth, Wesel, Germany, June 1935

When Johann L. came to America with his friends in 1683, he carried with him a low German bible, which was printed in 1598 by Peter Sebastian, a reprint of the 3rd edition of the Nikolaus-Biestkens bible, the first bible published by the Mennonites. He registered in this bible the names and birthdays of his children. The registrations are these: (Penna. Magazine, Vol. 23, p. 270.)

1. Elizabeth, born 28-7-1684; married Edw. White.
2. Elase, born 10-5-1686.
3. William, born 22-12-1688; m. Elizabeth, daughter of Reynier Tyson.
4. Sarah, born 19-7-1689.
5. John, born 27-9-1691.
6. Mary, born 18-11-1693.
7. Peter, born 30-1-1696.
8. Hanna, born 25-5-1698.
9. Matthew, born 13-8-1700.
10. Abraham, born 16-7-1703.
11. Joseph, born 3-9-1705.

It would be necessary to compare this copy with the original in the bible; in two places of this register are incongruent records:

(a) It is not possible that William was born in 1688 and Sarah after only less than eight months. It seems that William was born in December 22, 1687.

(b) The name of Elase is unexplainable; it has to be corrected somehow.

For this purpose it will be necessary first to know about the customs of naming the children as they were used at the lower Rhine until the end of the last century in the families of the Mennonites and the Reformed. It was a religious custom that the parents gave to their first children the names of their own parents, so that the children had the names of their grandparents. Thus came to existence the so-called "Leitnamensitte" (difficult to translate), which means: we can conclude from the Christian names of the oldest children of a couple the name of the grandparents. This, however, was not done without any exceptions. Very often the first or a later child receives the name of a relative who died early or shortly before the birth of the child, so the strict sequence of names may get changed.

How is this now with the children of Jan Lucken?

The wife of J. Lucken was Maria Theissen (Mary Tyson) who is supposed to have been a sister of Reynier Tyson. Maria calls her oldest daughter Elizabeth. Since Reynier Tyson has a daughter of the same name, who later became the wife of Wilhelm Lucken, we may also surmise that the Christian (first) name comes from the Theissen family. Unfortunately, for the time being we do not know the children of Rein. Theissen, just as we do not know his parents. The elimination of the Christian names from (or of ?) her family is therefore more difficult. But we may take it for granted that the name of Theissen is not a mere family name in our modern sense; the family name of the father is nothing else than the first name of the father attached to the first name of his son. This was done very often, particularly by the Mennonites. Therefore, Reiner and Maria would be the children of a certain "Theiss," whose family name is unknown still. Jan Lucken and Maria Theissen have a son named Theiss. Theiss is an abbreviated form for Matthias. There are reasons for the fact that this name appears only on the 9th place. In his new country, Jan L. has probably given up the custom of his people to hand the names of the forefathers down to his children. He follows the custom to give to his children biblical names, which explains the names of Sara, Hanna, Abraham and Joseph. He also uses his and his wife's name (5 and 6). We do not know any reason for the name of the 7th child "Peter." So two names look like "Leitnamen," "Wilhelm" and the problematic "Elaste." Therefore, the father of Johann must have been a Wilhelm L. and his mother an "Elaste" or a similar one.

J. L. landed on October 3rd, 1683, in North America. From the birth date of his oldest daughter Elizabeth (28-7-1684) is to be concluded that his marriage with Maria Theissen has taken place shortly after the arrival in the new country. He is supposed to have come from Krefeld. He did not marry there, since his name is not in the public records there, which begin in 1677 in the Reformed Church. There are no Mennonite Records of that time in Krefeld. The Krefeld Mennonites has a baptism record beginning in 1701, in which we find naturally, nothing about Jan L., his parents and sisters and brothers. The name of Luckens is not to be found there at all. So, we have to look out for other sources.

Since the 16th century, in the Duchy of Jülich lived numerous Mennonites in communities. Also in the neighborhood, like in the county of Mörs, to which Krefeld belonged.

The king of England intervened against the persecutions, since he was Earle of Mörs and before the imprisoned Mennonites were released, a report about them was written, in which the following passage is significant:

"Adelheid Lucken testifies she is 71 years old, that she was born in München-Gladbach-Rheindahlen." This was written in 1694. So, she was born in 1623 in München-Gladbach-Rheindahlen (this "München" has nothing to do with the Bavarian München. München-Gladbach is still a city near Krefeld.—W. Hubben). She lived there (?) until 1652, moved to Wickrath and from there to Rheydt. Since she lived in 1694, her and her relatives names must be found there in the registers about the Mennonite exiles. And, truly, in the "Specificate" of July 16, 1694, there appears Willem Lucken. His loss is given there with 270 Reichs Taler and 45 Stüber (dimes). His name as one who moved to Krefeld is also in the "Lyste van de Mennonite" (list of the Mennonites).

Adelheid and Wilhelm were born in Dahlen. There, in the registers of the Mennonites in July 2nd of 1652 is certified that he was born there and married a woman of his religion (Mennonite). Since Wilhelm moved to Wickrath with his wife, whose name is not mentioned in the Dahlen register of 1652, his and her name should be found in Wickrath. In 1671, January 16th, an acre of land was conveyed to "Wilhelm Leucken and Alet Leucken." April 4th of 1674, another lot of land was conveyed to W. Leucken and Aeltgen (Alet and Aeltgen are synonymous to Adelheid). The couple in 1684, November 21st, sold land and their names are given then as Wilhelm Lücken and Alitgen (= Adelheid). All these forms are dialect forms of Adelheid.

It is quite probable that the immigrant Jan whose parents seem to be definitely secured now has used the name of Elaste when he tried to anglicize Adelheid. He may have used the abbreviated form of Alet or Ölete (both are in use over there). The copier has not known the name that he found in the bible register and tried to assimilate it to an English form.

The family (girl's) name of Adelheid, the mother of Jan, is nowhere to be found.

Are there brothers and sisters of Jan Lucken, other children of Wilhelm and Adelheid? In Pa. Magazine, Vol. 23, p. 7, the wife of Jan Simons (Seimans) was called a Mercken

Williamsen Lucken. She is a daughter of Wilhelm and a sister of Jan. Maria (Marichen, Mariken, Mär(i)ken, Mercken) must have been born in 1652/54. She and Jan Simons are registered in the proclamation of the Reformed Church in Krefeld.

Besides Maria in this register there is only one more member of the Lucken family: Elizabeth L. married a widower, Johan Newes, in 1695, October 16th, in Krefeld. There is no other Lucken family ever mentioned in the 2nd half of the 17th century, so we may assume that she is a daughter of Wilhelm and Adelheid, who probably had more children, but besides these three there are no other facts to be found.

It is not possible to fix the birthday of Jan either. Suppose he was the oldest child, then he has been born in Dahlen in 1650/51; if younger, he might be born in 1655 (in Wickrath). It is certain, however, that he, like most of the immigrants, was not born in Krefeld. Wilhelm probably was born in 1620.

The same method of concluding from the first (Christian) names of the children back to their forefathers has to be applied to the parents of Wilhelm.

In 1631, February 2, in Gladbach, Johann Lucken bought a lot of land and his wife was Boetzgen ter Meer (Boetzgen = Beatrix). She was from Dahlen. Johann died before 1638, May 8th, as other documents (p. 8) prove. So, he does not appear in the register of the Dahlen Mennonites. So, it is fair to assume that Johann who was Wilhelm's father, was born around 1595, since Wilhelm was born around 1620. Beatrix died before February 14, 1631.

Jan L. married the 2nd time, Effgen (Eva) Hanssen, the daughter of a rich Gladbach Mennonite. No children are known from this second marriage.

Johann's father, Wilhelm's grandfather, was again a Wilhelm Lucken. February 18th, 1600, a Wilhelm L. is named again in the registers conveying property.

7.

So, the register of the Luckens would look like this:

- I. Wilhelm Lucken from Dahlen.
- II. Johann L., from Dahlen; born M. Gladbach-Rheindahlen around 1595. Died 1636 or 1638. Married Beatrix ter Meer (Mennonite).
" (II) Eva Hanssen.
- III. Wilhelm L., born around 1620. (Mennonite; was a weaver) died after 7-16-1694. Married Adelheid?
Their children:
 - (1) Johann, born 1650/51 or 1655.
 - (2) Maria, born 1652/54 (?).
Married 1679, J. Simons; Went 1683 to Pa. (U.S.A.) Second Marriage: Wilhelm Strepers.
 - (3) Beatrix (?) Died early (?).
 - (4) Elizabeth.
- IV. Johann, married Maria Theissen around 1683.
Children:
 - (1) Elizabeth, July 28,* 1684, married Ed. White.
 - (2) Elase (Adelheid), Oct. 5,* 1686.
 - (3) Wilhelm, Dec. 22,* 1688; married 1710, Elizabeth Theissen, daughter of Reiner Theissen.
 - (4) Sara, July 19,* 1689.

* These four dates are incorrect, the months being New Style, instead of Old. See page 158.

- (5) Johann, 9-27-1691.
- (6) Maria, 11-18-1693.
- (7) Peter, 1-30-1696.
- (8) Hanna, 5-25-1698.
- (9) Matthias, 8-13-1700.
- (10) Abraham, 7-16-1703.
- (11) Joseph, 9-3-1705.

Supplement to Ancestry of Johann (Jan) Lucken,

by Wilhelm Niepoth, Wesel, Germany

July, 1936

It was a peculiarity of the original work on the Parents and Ancestors of Johann Lucken that the generations were not given on documentary evidence but only in the way of genealogical research. There appear under investigation in the neighborhood around Krefeld certain customs of leading names; and drawing on the information of the Archives, we find that the lines are recorded as shown in no. 6 and 7, of the work of June, 1935.

In the meantime, the author has found in still earlier and many times abstracted Inheritance Books of the Shrievalty Court at M-Gladbach, a record that at least establishes a line:

"Johann Lucken's children, namely, Mewis Lucken, Wilhelm and Andries Jansen and Claes Gerhardt; Grantors, (or sellers), not being present, however, before Johann Steinuartz, Sheriff, they consented to the transfer, since in their absence Johan Finck and George Von Ehren appeared for them, concerning Johann Zilcke Entge's wife's money.

Anno 1649, July 14, before Conrad Knore and Johann Steinuartz, Sheriffs (or Justices) appeared the above mentioned Grantors and declared that the sale of the last portion of the inheritance was agreed to by them and that it consisted of one and one half acres less 12 rods on the high field, lying by the side of Conrad Ahler and Martin Ihrmes' children's land, the smaller side on the green path and the other bordering on land of Claes ther Merr, tax free, 142 thalers and 3 Rthalers for registry, cash down, as is customary."

The same sale is again given in a record of the Inheritance Book in the following form: "Johann lucker's entire family, Grantors, concerning the inheritance of Johan Zilcke Entge's wife's money. The above sale of estate disposes of 1½ acres of land-etc."

Now the children of the deceased Johann Lucken sell land on the High Field in M-Gladbach. We remember that under No. 5 of the first work, it was said: "Here appears a Johann Lucken with his unnamed children that he had by Boetzgen ther Mehr"; and farther on it speaks of the second marriage with Eva Hansen: "also by this marriage there were children but neither are their names known." But in the above quoted Document the children of Johann Lucken are mentioned with their full names and they are, Mewis Lucken, Wilhelm Jansen, Andries Jansen and Claes Gerhardt.

It might look at first glance as if our Johann Lucken could not be the father of Wilhelm Lucken. But he is. According to our earlier statement Johann was already dead in 1638. Here he appears no more but only his children. The father is then not living. By custom of using the father's name, it follows that Johann by his first marriage with Boetzgen ther Mehr, daughter of Mewis (Bartholomais) ther Mehr, must have had a son Mewis that is the first of the above named children, called here Mewis Lucken. Curiously there appears in the record an "and" between the words namely and Mewis Lucken. It is entirely unexplained. But it may be remarked that the originals of the Gladbacher Inheritance Books are no longer in existence. The State Archives have preserved only the copies that apparently were made towards the end of the 17th century, either because the first Books wore out with frequent use in searches, or because they were buried in wartime and therefore became ruined. What is now here then is twice written. From this were again copies made and the third copy was partly in shortened form. For some years, only this third copy was available. It is clear that these copies contained some mistakes that the transcriber must have overlooked, because he did not know the persons, they being long dead and their descendants gone from M-Gladbach. That was indeed so with all the Mennonites. Copying was even at that time an uncertain thing, especially when it concerned books so heavy and voluminous as those of the Gladbacher Inheritance Books. The writer exerted himself as far as possible to shorten the prolix, long drawn transfer records. So the second copy is already a shortening of the originals. How far the third copy goes in simplification, our example shows. It gives not at all the names of the children. It writes the family name Lucker instead of Lucken. It must always be regretted that the originals were destroyed. We would have with them far better results produced in the research into Mennonite families than is possible in the use of the copies.

From this viewpoint we must consider the "and." There are two possibilities. The "and" is to be erased. The copyist had erred and placed an and from the second line onto the first. Then Mewis Lucken would be the eldest child of Johann. Another supposition is that between namely and "and" the name of another child has been forgotten. This is not very likely. That would mean there was an unmarried daughter. The names of the daughters are in fact in documents generally not given. Besides it is unlikely. It is regretful in this place also that the copy of the original has been shortened. It is certain that in the first copy the names of the women were also given. We would then know also whether the sons were at that time married. But complaints avail nothing. We must reckon only with what we have and use it as far as possible. In later researches we will come back to the "and."

It looks at first sight as if Jan Lucken had only one son. It only appears so. It was the usual custom with the Mennonites, as well as those of other beliefs, instead of a family name to attach to the Christian name of the child also the Christian name of the father, as a distinguishing mark. Therefore Mennonite searches are very complicated, since the last name corresponding to the father's first name is always changing from one generation to another. But this difficulty makes research attractive and interesting.

Now the father here is named Johann or in the dialect, Jan. Then there is the possibility that his children, as direct descendants of a Jan, should be called Jansen. Now there is named in the document in second place, as children of Johann Lucken, Wilhelm and Andries Jansen. From the context, it follows that these as well as Mewis Lucken were sons of Johann Lucken. Why then was the first one named Lucken and the two others Jansen? They could be just as well all Lucken or all Jansen. It is because Mewis is the chief inheritor and therefore the bearer of the name, while the others are called by the father's name.

How comes it then that the son named here Wilhelm Jansen is later called no more Jansen but in all documentary records named only Lucken?

It may be noted first that in all extracts from the Inheritance Books at Gladbach and from other sources, and also in the Church Books of the Mennonite Congregations of the Lower Rhine, which the writer last year not only copied, so far as they are extant, but worked over genealogically, the brothers Mewis and Andries Lucken or Jansen are not to be found. This may only be explained by their emigration to Holland. Then William remained alone in the Lower Rhine and he was therefore the bearer of the family name. It is to be supposed that his brothers gave to him their shares in the estate for a settlement in cash. William Lucken is also the only member of the family who, in the records of the Mennonites in Dahlen, (where certainly the family originated and were settled), is recorded in 1652. The others are no more in the country.

Who is then the last son, Claes Gerhardt? If he is named here as the child of Johann Lucken, that also brings us back to the shortened record. His patronymic, Gerhardt, points to him as a son of Gerhard. How he is exactly placed in his family is yet not discovered. At any rate, he is not Johann's son but his son in law. Unfortunately the name of his wife, the daughter of Johann Lucken, is missing. That would have given an interesting light on the name of Johann's mother.

Are these all the children of Johann? Yes and no. Let us look once more at the Christian names. Mewis is named after his grandfather on his mother's side, Mewis ther Mehr; Wilhelm after that on his father's side, Wilhelm Lucken. Andries is named for a relative, apparently a brother of his father, who therefore, (with two question marks), might be placed as a son of Wilhelm Lucken the elder, for in the family of the mother this name is not found. How the married daughter was named is not disclosed. It is possible that she was named after her grandmother ther Mehr, Grietgen or Margarete. That is a guess for the present.

We will now look again at the Deed. The acre and a half of land lies with one side against the land of the children of Merten Irmen (Ihrmes). This Martin Irman was married to Sophia ther Mehr, a sister of Johann Lucken's wife and therefore a daughter of Mewis ther Mehr. The tract on the smaller side touched the property of a Claes ther Mehr. This was a son of Mewis ther Mehr and therefore a brother of Boetgen. So it is clear that the land was part of the ther Mehr estate and previously had been the property of Johann Lucken's father in law. But Johann was married a second time and it is further clear that the children of the second marriage had no right of inheritance and therefore could not sell the land. Now is answered the above question whether all the children were named directly in the Deed of 1649. Mewis, Wilhelm, Andries and the daughter married to Claes Gerhardt are all the children of Johann's first marriage with Boetgen ther Mehr. From the second marriage, there was apparently only one child. Whether there were more is not discoverable from the shortened document of 5-8-1638, depending as it does on the manner of writing certain words. The d in Kind is not clear, as it might be Kinder or Kindt. This is plainer to read in the record in the Gladbacher Inheritance Book of 10-1-1651. On p. 8 of the first Part this discrepancy is shown by a bracket with a question mark. The name of the child (or children) is nowhere found. The inheritance that was left to this child by his grandfather on his mother's side, Heinrich Hansen, in M-Gladbach, was apparently with the transfer of 1651 entirely sold.

Johann Lucken had two wives who both came from Gladbach, and the inheritance of both was in Gladbach and was sold there. Johann himself was from Dahlen and had his property there. Unfortunately the Dahlen Inheritance Books are lost so that from there no further explanation is obtainable.

We are now in the position to complete the Lucken line through the second Generation, as we can place the names of the children and instead of

"Sons of the first marriage," we write:

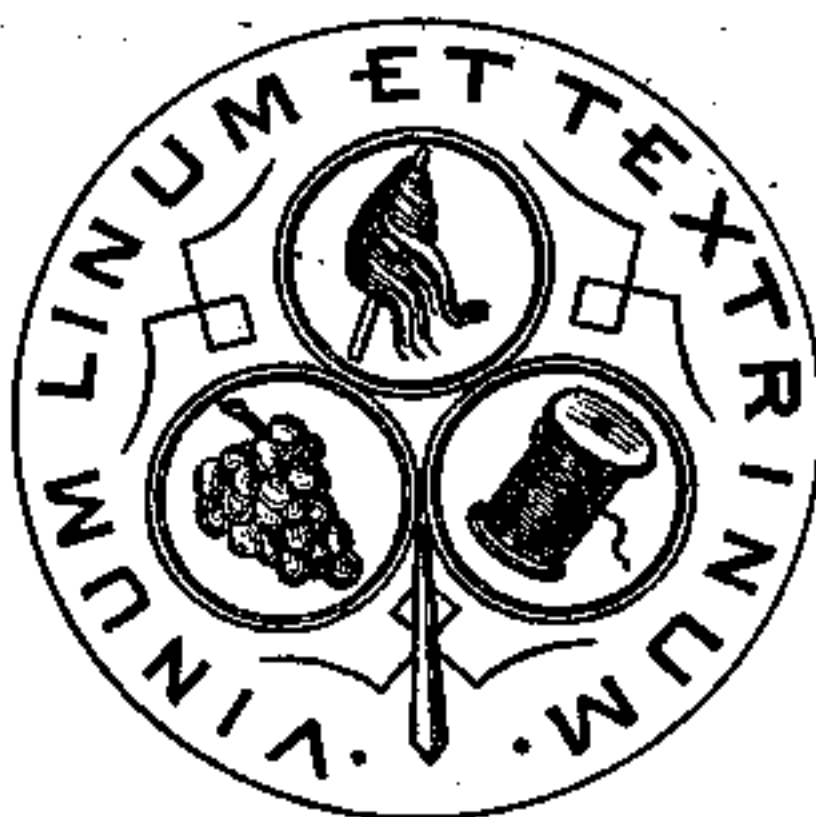

Children of the first marriage, born in Dahlen:

1. Mewis (Bartholomaeus) Lucken.
2. Wilhelm Lucken or Jansen, born about 1620. See Gen. III.
3. Andries Jansen.
4. ——— daughter married to Claes (Nikolaus) Gerhardt.

(The following note is given for its interest, although no connection is known to exist between Jan Luyken, the illustrator, of Amsterdam, and Jan Luken, of Germantown, Pennsylvania:)

"A list of Sewel's books and translations is given infra, in Appendix A. It shows that he edited one book, wrote ten, and translated twenty non-Quaker and seven Quaker writings. These thirty-eight publications, numbering some forty-five volumes in all, were written in the Dutch or Latin, or translated from the English, French, German, Flemish, Latin or Italian. Some of them were illustrated by such famous Amsterdam etchers as Jan Luyken, who made cuts for Sewel's translation from the Latin into the Dutch of Josephus's 'History'."

† For an account of David Lukens (the first generation of this genealogy), see page 161. For reference, the list of his children is repeated below.

2. SAMUEL LLOYD LUKENS; son of David and Sarah (Lloyd) Lukens; b. 4-1-1779; d. 11-3-1853, in East Fallowfield township, Chester county, Pa.; unmarried.

[Col. Fams. of Pa.; vol. V, p. 333.—Chester Co. Will Book G, p. 259.]

Samuel L. Lukens was slightly more than twenty-one years old when he was granted a certificate of removal to London Grove Mo. Mtg., Chester county, Pa. He presented this certificate at London Grove, 7-2-1800, with the request that it be endorsed to New Garden Monthly Meeting, which was done on the same date. It was received by New Garden three days later.

He lived within the compass of West Grove Preparative Meeting for almost exactly a year, when (7-4-1801), he received a certificate to return to Horsham. His return to that Meeting was noted, 10-28-1801.

[Horsham Meeting Recs.—Abst. of Mins. of Londongrove Mo. Mtg., p. 74.—Abst. of Mins. of New Garden Mo. Mtg.; pp. 620, 635, 636.]

Samuel L. Lukens was a trusted and prominent member of Horsham Mo. Mtg., for a number of years. The following items are gleaned from the minutes:

1814-4-27.—Samuel L. Lukens was one of the trustees appointed "to hold the deed" of Phoebe Shoemaker's gift.

1822-7-31.—Amos Walton and Samuel L. Lukens were appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting.

1822-10-30.—George Spencer and Samuel L. Lukens were appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting.

1827-1-31.—Samuel L. Lukens was appointed Overseer.

[Horsham Meeting Records.]

In 1829, came the Hicksite Separation. Among the members of Horsham Monthly Meeting who were listed as "Seceding Members to Orthodox" were "Samuel Lukens and Father."

[Ibid.]

They evidently became affiliated with Abington Monthly Meeting (Orthodox Branch), for in 8th month, 1832, within a year after the death of the father, a certificate was granted to "Samuel L. Lukens, son of David," to remove to Birmingham Monthly Meeting. Birmingham received this certificate, 10-31-1832.

About four years later (7-27-1836), Samuel L. Lukens took a certificate of removal to Evesham (N. J.) Monthly Meeting.

[Abst. of Recs. of Births, Marriages and Deaths at Abington Mo. Mtg.; p. 467.—Birmingham Mo. Mtg. Recs.]

He finally returned to Chester county, and settled in East Fallowfield township, not far from what is now the city of Coatesville.

He was disowned by Horsham Monthly Meeting, 1-1-1840, presumably for his failure to return to the fold.

Charles Lukens, M. D., lived in East Fallowfield and Brandywine townships, and in Coatesville, Chester county.

[Abst., Mo. Mtg. Recs., Chester Co. pp. 113, 320.]

"Doctor Charles Lukens, son of David Lukens and Sarah (Lloyd) Lukens, was born August 1, 1786. In 1816 he assumed control of the Brandywine Iron Works, the infant progenitor of the present day giant descendant, Lukens Steel Company. The Brandywine Works had been established since the year 1793, when Isaac Pennock, a member of an old and respected Pennsylvania family, in opposition to the judgment of his parents, had constructed a primitive plant at Rokeby, Chester County, Pennsylvania. The "Federal Slitting Mill," which he built there, was a pioneer operation. The enterprise, despite the difficulties involved, proving thoroughly successful, Mr. Pennock, in 1810, acquired another mill at Coatesville. This mill has been variously designated as the Brandywine Mill, Brandywine Iron Works, and the Brandywine Rolling Mill.

In April, 1813, Dr. Lukens, shortly after his marriage to Rebecca Webb Pennock, entered into partnership with his father-in-law, Isaac Pennock, the firm being known as Pennock and Lukens, but about the end of 1816, or the beginning of 1817, he assumed the conduct of the works entirely on his own account, having leased the Brandywine Mill from his father-in-law, Isaac Pennock, and thereafter conducted the business in his own name until the time of his death. Somewhere about 1820 he decided, after the successful experiments of George Stephenson, Robert Fulton, and others, that steam boilers were going to be used in considerable quantity and that the charcoal iron which he had been accustomed to handling was admirably adapted to the service required of boiler plates. Consequently, he remodeled the mill, putting in suitable furnaces and rolls, and began the first manufacture of boiler plate in America.

Dr. Lukens was very much interested in the welfare of his employees, and having been educated to the practice of medicine, visited them when they were sick, prescribing for their physical ailments, and would frequently then kneel down by the bedside and offer up a fervent prayer on behalf of the sick one. He had been scarcely able to establish thoroughly the manufacture of boiler plate iron when in 1825 he was taken sick and died after a short illness. His workmen, to whom he was much endeared, took turns in waiting upon him, and the two who sat by his bedside the night that he died, earnest Methodists, declared that they heard strains of celestial music about his dying bed."

"OBSERVE 125 YEARS OF LUKENS COMPANY

Community Joins in Celebrating Anniversary of Steel Plant's Founding

Coatesville, Pa., July 2 (1935).—A community celebration today marked the observance of the 125th anniversary of the founding of Lukens Steel Company, first to manufacture boiler plate in America and whose plant now boasts the world's largest steel plate mill.

Two hundred and thirty-five employees, with a record of 25 or more years of continuous service with the concern, were tendered a testimonial banquet at the Y.W.C.A.

John B. Trupe, who refused to join the pension roll and has seen continuous service for 62 years, received an ovation, as did Miss May J. Weikel, cashier, who has been connected with the company 39 years.

Mayor William G. Gordon was toastmaster, and speakers included E. L. Shaner, Cleveland, editor of the magazine 'Steel'; John Vandenventer, New York, editor of 'Iron Age'; Charles L. Huston, Lukens' vice-president; Robert W. Wolcott, company president; H. Edgar Barnes, Secretary of Revenue; William S. Martin and C. L. Bardo, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Mr. Huston, a direct descendant of Isaac Pennock, founder of the company, reviewed its history, telling of the activities manifested by Rebecca Lukens, Huston's grandmother, who operated the mill from 1825 to 1854.

She made all sales, negotiated all contracts, attended to the purchasing of materials and went into the mill to direct operations. He told how the day book of the firm in 1854 bore her written words: 'I have built a very superior mill, though a plain one, and our character for making boiler iron stood first in the market; hence we had as much business as we could do.' The plant was subsequently taken over by her son-in-law, Dr. Charles Huston, who came here from Philadelphia, and it has had a steady growth.

In the recent years, there have been organized two subsidiaries: Lukens Weld, Inc., and By-Products Steel Corporation."

He did not remain long in Philadelphia. In 1826, he was living at Bristol,* within the verge of Middletown (Bucks county) Monthly Meeting, and continued to reside in the neighborhood until about 1836. In 1839, he was living in New Jersey, but later returned to Pennsylvania. It is said that he settled at Ironville, Pa. (F. M. Woodward; "Borden-

OBITUARY

"David Lukens, an old and respected citizen of Morrisville, aged about 75 years, died very suddenly on Sunday evening week. During the day, he was in his usual health, and about five o'clock he went over to Trenton in company with some friends who had been spending the day with him. On returning to Morrisville, he went to the stable and put up his horse, but not returning to the house for a considerable time the family became alarmed, and one of his daughters went to see what had become of him, and found him lying upon the barn floor unable to move. By the aid of his daughter he was got to the house, where he soon after expired on the lounge in the arms of his wife. Medical aid was promptly summoned, but to no effect. The cause of his sudden death was heart disease."

John Michener of Moreland

(See Ancestral Chart No. 40-H.)

I.

JOHN MICHENER; b. —; d. —; m. Sarah —; b. —; d. —.

John and Sarah Michener are said to have come from Westmoreland, England. If so, the name does not occur in the Friends' Registers for that county, nor is there a record of their having brought a certificate to Philadelphia Monthly Meeting. It is possible that they may have become Friends after their arrival here. The births of all their children except Mary are recorded by Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, but it does not follow that these were all born here, as failure to record them elsewhere might have been remedied here, as sometimes happened. However, as Mary died here 6-24-1696, it follows that the children born after that date, must have been born here.

John Michener was made an executor of the will of John Martin, of Philadelphia, signed November 8, 1702, and it is in this connection that the former is first mentioned in the minutes of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting. Subsequent records refer chiefly to his trouble with the Meeting on account of financial difficulties, and this is perhaps the reason why no will or record of any estate of his has been found.

John Michener and Sarah his wife were probably both dead in 1747, as witness the deed quoted below.

Deed. June 3, 1747. Samuel Preston Moore, City of Phila., doctor in Physick, and wife Hannah, and Richard Hill, merchant, to John Michener, Phila. co., yeoman.

JAMES PAXSON (supposed to have been son of Henry and Joan (Clarke) Paxson, of Marsh Gibbon, Buckinghamshire, England); b. —; d. —; m. August 16, 1640, at Marsh Gibbon, Jane Clerk.

Children of James and Jane (Clerk) Paxson:

1. Ellen; bapt. 27 April 1641.
2. Alice; bapt. — October, 1644.
3. Henry; bapt. 11 —, 1646. "Henry Paxson, of Bycot House, in the parish of Slow, in the County of Oxford, aged about 37 years. Came in the ship 'Samuel' of London. The Mr., John Adee. Arrived in the Middle of the 7th Mo., 1682. His wife came at the same time, and died at sea in the last of the 5th Mo., 1682. His son, Henry, died at sea the day before his Mother. Mtgs., Bucks Co., Pa.; 1680-1870; vol. II, p. 80.*]
4. William; bapt. 21 December 1648 (of whom further).
5. Thomas; bapt. 15 June 1651. In the account quoted above, regarding Henry, it is said of Thomas: "brother of the said Henry. Came in the said ship, and died at sea about the beginning of the 7th Mo., 1682."
6. Jane; bapt. 14 March, 1652/3.
7. James. (His record of baptism is missing. Because of his association with William, however [see above], both receiving certificates together from the same meeting, and both settling together in Bucks county, as well as for other reasons, they are assumed to be brothers. It is not correct, however, to say that James and William came in the ship "Samuel" with Henry; the record does not indicate it. What we know is that James and William received their certificates of removal on 2 mo. 3-1681, and that the "Samuel" was on the high seas from 5th month to 7th month, 1682, approximately. All else is uncertain.)

PAUL PENNINGTON; b. —; d. 1-28-1719; bur. 1-30, at Sunbreak; m. December 27, 1655, in the parish of Aldingham, Anne Simpson; b. —; d. 2-9-1695; bur. 2-10, at Sunbreak.

[Register of Parish of Aldingham in Furness, 1542-1695; p. 123—English Friends' Recs., Lancashire.]

The Penningtons, of whom William Pennington was the first American ancestor, lived in the parish of Aldingham, in Furness, in the County of Lancaster, England. Furness is a district in the northwestern part of the county and its southern part forms a peninsula bounded by the Bay of Morcambe, the River Dudden and the Irish Sea. Its chief town is Barrow-in-Furness near which is the beautiful ruin of the Abbey of Furness, founded in 1127 by Stephen, afterwards King of England. In the Domesday Book, Furness is called Hougum or the Hill. [Lippincott's New Gazetteer of the World.] The shores of the Bay of Morcambe are beautified by many vales, parks and woods sloping to the water's edge and by numerous old towns and picturesque villages. The parish of Aldingham lies in the southern part of Furness upon the western shore of the Bay. The Topographical Dictionary of England, by Samuel Lewis, published in 1845, states that, at the time of publication, the parish had 907 inhabitants and that the waters of the Bay had so encroached upon the land that the parish church, St. Cuthbert's, which had been said to have formerly been in the center of the parish, was then within reach of high tide. From a promontory on the coast, which was once surrounded by a moat and is supposed to have been an exploratory station during the incursions of the Picts and Scots, there is an extensive prospect over the counties of Westmoreland and York.

Soon after Paul Pennington was married he and his wife became Quakers and were members of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting. That he became a very zealous member, the following record shows, "About the Month called January this Year (1660) a general Prosecution of this People, for refusing to take the Oath of Allegiance was set on foot. . . . At Lancaster, a Party of Soldiers, some with Swords drawn and Pistols cockt, others with Muskets and lighted Matches, came to the Meeting and took away all the Men they found, and carried them to the Castle. On the 24th at Swarthmore forty three Persons were taken, some out of their Houses, others from the Market, and some from their Labour and Employments, by a Party of Horsemen, and without any Warrant, Mittimus, or Examination before a Magistrate, committed to Lancaster Castle." [A Collection of the Sufferings of the People called Quakers, by Joseph Besse, vol. I, pp. 307, 308.] Paul Pennington and a Robert Pennington were among the number. Who this Robert was, whether a brother or other relation to Paul, has not been ascertained.

The same register of the parish of Aldingham, in which the marriage of Paul Pennington and Anne Simpson is recorded, shows that an Anne Simpson and her sister Alice, daughters of Christopher Simpson, of Scales, were baptised August 23, 1637. This Anne may be the one who married Paul Pennington. In the parish church of Urswick in Furness, which is near Aldingham, Christopher Simpson and Elizabeth Marr were married February 6, 1629. There is a Christopher Simpson, who later was a member of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting, who was buried 2nd month 23, 1681, at Sunbreak.

Paul Pennington and his wife Anne were members of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting.

WILLIAM PENNINGTON, son of Paul and Anne (Simpson) Pennington, b. 11-28-1657, at Sunbreak, in the parish of Aldingham, Lancashire, England; d. —; m. 3-22-1688, at Joseph Good's house, at Beickclife, Margaret Hall; b. 12-15-1667, at Roosebeck; d. —; daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth (Addison) Hall, of Roosebeck, parish of Aldingham.

[English Friends' Recs., Lancashire.]

William, in the record of his marriage, was described as a shoemaker of Sunbreak. He and his wife were members of Swarthmore Meeting and their children were born at Sunbreak and were under care of that meeting. It was not until their children were grown that William and his wife decided to go to America. He was then 61 years of age, and she was 51. Their son Daniel had preceded them by five years.

The minutes of Middletown Monthly Meeting, Bucks county, Pennsylvania, of 7-4-1718, state "At this Meeting William Pennington produced a Certificate for himselfe and his wife from Swarthmore Monthly Meeting in old England which this meeting accepts and is well satisfied with." [Mins. of Middletown Mo. Mtg., p. 353.] At the next meeting his oldest son Paul produced a certificate from Swarthmore.

William Pennington lived in Bucks county until 1722. The minutes of Middletown Monthly Meeting of 6-2, of that year, state "Att This meeting William Penington appeared and Requested a Certificate for himselfe and another for his son Paule Penington thay Haveing Removed themselves to within the Bounds of Abington Monthly Meeting."

[Minutes of Middletown Mo. Mtg., p. 401.]

Just when William and his wife Margaret died is not known, as their deaths are not recorded in the meeting records. Neither of them left a will nor were letters granted to administer upon their estates.

Children of William and Margaret (Hall) Pennington:

1. Elizabeth; b. 12-6-1688, at Sunbreak.
2. Ann; b. 11-14-1690, at Sunbreak.
3. Paul; b. 12-5-1691, at Sunbreak.
4. Daniel, b. 8-17-1694, at Sunbreak (of whom further).
5. Mary, b. 11-12-1696, at Sunbreak; d. 11-28-1696, at Sunbreak.
6. Thomas, b. 11-31-1697, at Sunbreak; m. Martha Steele. They had a dau. Martha (b. 3-20-1722; d. 5- -1750) who married (as his first wife) William Lukens (37-F). (See "Family of Thomas Pennington," at end of this sketch.)

[Minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting, Pennsylvania, 1682-1746; p. 137.]

Daniel Pennington evidently was the first of his family to come to America, and he was in the 19th year of his age when he applied to Swarthmore Monthly Meeting for a certificate. This certificate is a very interesting one, giving as it does, a short account of his life. It reads as follows:—"To our Friends and Brethern in the province of Pennsylvania in America Dear Friends Daniel Pennington a young man, belonging to this meeting hath acquainted us with his desire and intention of removing into your province. This may certify you that he was born of believing parents, and hath been educated in the profession of truth, and so far as understood, or doth appear he hath behaved himself orderly, and hath served five years apprenticeship to the service, weaver and wool comber trade, being the term mentioned in his indentures, and he hath the consent of his parents and relations, and likewise of this meeting, for his said intended voyage; and so far as understood he is clear from any relation to marriage, and of any debts. So desiring your care over him for his good every way, with the salutation of dear love we rest your friends, and brethern Signed in behalf of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting the 2nd day of 1st Mo 1713." [Middletown Mo. Mtg. Certificates of Removal, p. 61.] This certificate was signed by 19 members of the meeting, among whom were Daniel's grandfather, Paul Pennington, his father, William Pennington, and his brothers Paul and Thomas.

After presenting this certificate to Middletown Monthly Meeting, he perhaps stayed in that locality, as his father, mother and brother Paul went there from England in 1717. Later he removed within the bounds of Abington Monthly Meeting; it may be that he went at the same time as his father in 1722. The minutes of that meeting of 28th of 7 month 1724 state that "Daniel Pennington and Elizabeth Michener having Declared their Intentions of Marriage with Each Other before two Monthly Meetings are left to Accomplish ye Same Orderly."

[Abington Mo. Mtg. Mins., 1682-1746, p. 137.]

Elizabeth Michener was the daughter of John and Sarah Michener. She and her husband were residents of Moreland Manor in 1734, for we find him listed as a tenant there in that year. [Pubs. Gen. Soc. of Pa., vol. I, p. 176.] In the latter part of the year 1735 he had a serious loss by fire, which destroyed much of his belongings. The minutes of Abington of the 12th month 23, state "Daniel Pennington made application to this Mg, desiring Some assistance from frds, on acct that he has by accident of fire lost most of his effects, This Mg Refers or Recommends it to each particular Mg, to Raise a Collection for that purpose, & bring the same to next Mo Mg."

Nearly a year later, on 29th of 9th month, 1736, Daniel and his wife were granted a certificate to Buckingham Monthly Meeting. From the beginning of the next year until 1762 Daniel took an active part in the affairs of this meeting, serving on committees and attending each Quarterly Meeting.

[Mins. of Abington Mo. Mtg., 1682-1746; pp. 209, 213.]

John Dyer, of Plumstead, Bucks County, kept a diary, and in it he says, under date of 2d month 18, 1777, that "Daniel Pennington Departed this Life this Day."

(Note: It is possible that William Pennington, of Sunbreak, Lancashire, married (2) Mary —. No record of death of his wife Margaret can be found, nor any record of the marriage of William and Mary; but the Friends' Records of Lancashire show the birth, on 1705-7-30, of Margret Penington, dau. of William and Mary, of Sunbrick. And on 2-11-1732, Daniel Burges, of Falls township, Bucks county, and Margaret Pennington, of same place, were married at Falls Meeting. The marriage record does not give Margaret's parentage; nor, apparently, were any of her family name present as witnesses.

It is possible, of course, that Margaret may have been a daughter of William and Margaret, for whom no daughter of that name is elsewhere recorded. If the clerk had hastily written down "William and Marg." it might have appeared like "William and Mary," and been so transcribed. A second marriage, however, seems more likely.)

Seal of
Germantown Settlers
Vinum Linum Texturinum*

Streeper†

(See Ancestral Chart No. 38-H.)

The name of the wife of Ryneer Tyson, of Germantown and Abington, has not been fully proven. That her Christian name was Margaret, appears from a deed of 1727 (see "A Contribution to the History and Genealogy of the Tyson and Fitzwater Families," compiled by Samuel Traquair Tyson; p. 12). As to her surname, it appears most probable, from reference to the Streeper Papers (extracts from which follow), that it was Streeper (Striepers), and that she was a sister to Jan and Willem Striepers.

In considering these familiar family letters, it must be remembered that what we have are copies, made, some of them, many years after; and that those, at least, that were written from Germany, must also have been translated into English, in which we find them; so that there may have been errors of both copying and translating.

Then, also, terms of relationship, such as "brother-in-law," "cousin," "nephew" and "uncle," must not be rendered too strictly. At the period of which we write—the late 17th century—the term "brother-in-law" meant what "step-brother" means today, while "brother-in-law," today, has three distinct meanings. Nephews and nieces were both referred to as "cousins," as will be noticed in items 10 and 11, in which, within a few months, Ryneer Tyson addresses Leonard Striepers as both "nephew" and "cousin." This Leonard Striepers was the son of Jan Striepers, who, in his letters to Ryneer Tyson, addresses him both as "brother-in-law" and "brother."

In his "Settlement of Germantown," Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker says: "The three Op den Graeffs . . . were cousins of Jan and Willem Streypers, who were also brothers. The wives of Thones Kunders and Lenart Arets were sisters of the Streypers, and the wife of Jan was the sister of Ryneer Tyson."

[Procs., Pa. German Soc.; vol. IX, p. 56.]

Now, Ryneer Tyson, in letters to his nephew Leonard Striepers, aforesaid, refers to both Leonard Arets and Thones Kunders as "brother" (items 7 and 10). He also speaks of them as "your uncle Leonard Arets" and "your uncle Thones Kunders (items 9 and 11). In the curious letter from "Widow Will: Striepers and her two Sons Lenarts and Jno. Striepers," mention is made of "Uncle Reyner Teissen" (item 8).

Now if Ryneer Tyson was "brother" to Jan Striepers—if he addressed the children of Jan as "cousins," or "nephews"—if he was "uncle" to the children of Jan's brother William—if he called Jan's brothers-in-law "brothers"—the presumption is strong that Rynear Tyson himself had married a sister of Jan and Willem Striepers, and of the wives of Thones Kunders and Lenart Arets. Furthermore, the prominence of Rynear Tyson in this family disagreement would argue a close connection with the family, either by blood or by marriage. In all probability, the latter was the case, and Margaret, wife of Rynear Tyson, was most likely Margaret Striepers. Had the relation been as Judge Pennypacker suggests—that is, had Rynear Tyson's sister married Jan Striepers—Rynear would hardly have been "uncle" to the children of William Striepers.

"Robert Titus, the first of the name in America, was born in England in 1600, probably St. Catherine's parish, near Stansted Abbots, Hertfordshire, some thirty miles north of London. There is a probability that Robert was of the same family of Col. Silas Titus who played quite a part in the politics of his time. . . .

Robert Titus embarked from London April 3, 1635. The following is the entry in the passenger list, preserved in the Public Record Office, London. Edmond Titus, 5

They arrived at Boston in a few weeks following, and soon were granted land in the present town of Brookline, near Muddy River, adjoining Boston. Here the family remained two or three years, when they removed to the town of Weymouth, some nine miles to the southeast. Their land is described in the records of the town of Weymouth, and was located in the present village of North Weymouth, and is not far from the unfortunate settlement which Captain Weston made in Sept., 1622. In the spring of 1644 Robert, in company with some forty families, removed with the minister of the Weymouth parish, Rev. Samuel Newman, to the town of Rehoboth, Mass., just east of Providence, R. I. He was one of the founders of the first parish. While a resident of Rehoboth he was often entrusted by the freemen with offices of confidence. He was Commissioner for the Court of Plymouth from Rehoboth the years 1648-9, and 1650 and 1654.* He had some trouble with the authorities because he harbored Abney Ordway and family, they being of "evil fame," which the author supposes, means they were Quakers. He soon after gave notice of his intention to leave the colony. He sold his property to Robert Jones, of Nantasket, 23d 3 mo., 1654, and we fix this as about the date of his migration to Long Island." (Here follows details as to the sons of Robert Titus; etc.)

* This date—1654—is not borne out by the town records of Rehoboth; see beyond.

[References are to "The History of Rehoboth, Bristol Co., Mass.," by Leonard Bliss, Jr. Further references, of minor importance, are found on pp. 26-8, 31, 34 and 38. The expressions "deputie for the towne" and "deputie for the Court," probably refer to the service at Plymouth Court.]

[Mary Powell Bunker, in "Long Island Genealogies" (p. 103) says: "In 1653 Robert Titus, his son John and one other son settled at Oyster Bay, L. I." This is certainly incorrect as to John, unless he returned later to Rehoboth, where he appears of much later date. As to Robert, no record of his actually having come to Long Island, has come to light.]

I.

RYNEAR TYSON; b. in Germany, ab. 1659; d. in Abington township, Philadelphia (now Montgomery) county, Pa., 7-27-1745; m. —, Margaret —.

[The Friend; vol. XXX, p. 229.—A Contribution to the History and Genealogy of the Tyson and Fitzwater Families; comp. by Samuel Traquair Tyson; p. 12.]

A difference of opinion exists as to the name of the wife of Rynear Tyson. Although some statements have been made that her Christian name was Mary, a deed of date 5-15-1727, from Reynier Tyson and his wife Margaret "to their son Isaac Tyson" seems to settle that question. "The Births of Reynier Tyson's children" (name of mother not given) as recorded by Abington Monthly Meeting, would indicate that he was married but once. As to the surname of his wife, Thomas Maxwell Potts says: "His wife's name was Margaret, who is supposed to have been a sister of Thones Kunders." George Norbury Mackenzie states positively that Rynear Tyson married "Margaret Kunders of Germantown, Pa." But the "Tyson and Fitzwater Families" quotes a letter written by Rynear Tyson, addressed to "Dear Cousins Lenert and Heinrich Striepers with your sister," as well as a family tradition that Rynear Tyson and his wife were cousins, as evidence that the latter's maiden name was not Kunders, but Striepers. (See Streeper sketch.)

SKETCHES OF RYNEAR TYSON

"Reinier Tyson was born in Germany, in or about the year 1659. He was convinced of the Truth whilst living there, and for his faithfulness thereto, suffered persecution. He removed to Pennsylvania a few years after William Penn first obtained the province, and he settled himself within the limits of Abington Monthly Meeting, then called Dublin. He continued faithful to the manifestations of Truth received, and grew in the esteem of his friends to be a father in the church. In the year 1725, he was appointed an elder, and continued faithful in fulfilling the duties of the station, until prevented by age and indisposition. His friends say: He 'was innocent and inoffensive in life and conversation, and diligent in attending his religious meetings.'

* Translation: Vinum—vine; Linum—linen; Texturinum—thread.

† See page 156: "Were the settlers of Germantown Dutch or German?"

He lived beloved and honoured to a good old age, dying on the 27th of the Seventh month, 1745; aged about 86 years."

[The Friend; vol. XXX, p. 229.]

"The Tyson Family. Reynier Tyson was one of the original German emigrants who came to Pennsylvania in 1683, and founded Germantown. His wife's name was Margaret, who is supposed to have been a sister of Thones Kunders (another of the German emigrants), as in the Striepers MS, Tyson speaks of Kunders as "brother." About the year 1870, Jesse Tyson, of Baltimore, then in his 84th year, wrote of his great grandfather, 'Rynear Tyson continued a resident of Germantown until it became thickly settled, then he sold his possessions there, which had become very valuable, and united with his wife's property (for she had some property as well as spirit) he was quite independent. He purchased a large tract in Abington Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. Here, by industry, prudent management, and judicious investments he accumulated much wealth, and lived to a good old age.' "

[Historical Collections Relating to The Potts Family in Great Britain and America; compiled by Thomas Maxwell Potts; p. 253, foot-note.]

GERMANTOWN SETTLERS

"Ere long thirteen men with their families, comprising thirty-three persons, nearly all of whom were relatives, were ready to embark to seek new homes across the ocean. They were Lenart Arets, Abraham Op den Graeff, Dirck Op den Graeff, Herman Op den Graeff, Willem Streypers, Thones Kunders, Reynier Tyson, Jan Seimens, Jan Lensen, Peter Keurlis, Johannes Bleikers, Jan Lucken and Abraham Tunes. The three Op den Graeffs were brothers, Hermann was a son-in-law of Van Bebber, they were accompanied by their sister Margaretha and their mother, and they were cousins of Jan and Willem Streypers, who were also brothers. The wives of Thones Kunders and Lenart Arets were sisters of the Streypers, and the wife of Jan was the sister of Reynier Tyson."

KEITHIAN SEPARATION

"In 1692 culminated the dissensions among the Quakers caused by George Keith, and the commotion extended to the community at Germantown. . . . The certificate from the Quarterly meeting at Philadelphia, which Samuel Jennings bore with him to London in 1693, when he went to present the matter before the Yearly Meeting there, was signed by Dirck Op den Graeff, Reynier Tyson, Peter Schumacher and Caspar Hoedt."

[Settlement of Germantown; p. 186.]

LANDS

Rynear Tyson purchased fifty acres in Germantown, and his town lot extended along the east side of the Main Street southwardly from where Brighthurst street has since been opened, containing about eighteen acres. He had twenty-two acres more laid out, just north of Washington lane, extending from Chew street to Stenton avenue. The balance of his purchase was laid out in the side land toward Plymouth.

[Tyson and Fitzwater Families; pp. 13-15.]

This land was purchased in 1683. He bought other land in Germantown, subsequently. In 1700, he bought land in Abington township, to which he removed within the next few years.

[Ibid.]

On the "penny per pound" tax list of 1693, "Reinert Tisen" is assessed at £60, and is taxed 5 shillings.

[Pa. Magazine; vol. VIII, p. 99.]

SERVICES

Rynear Tyson was a Burgess of Germantown in 1692, 1693, 1694 and 1696.

[Settlement of Germantown; by Samuel W. Pennypacker; Pubs. Pa. German Soc.; vol. IX, pp. 339-40.]

On 2-9-1695, he was appointed by Abington Mo. Mtg. to represent Germantown Preparative Meeting on a committee "to take care of ye youth."

He was appointed an Overseer of Abington Meeting 8-30-1709, and again on 11-27-1723/4.

He was on a committee to visit families, 12-24-1717, and was appointed to assist Germantown Friends in visiting families, 3-27-1723.

On 5-26-1725, he was chosen to represent Abington at the Ministers' Meeting, and the last record found of him is the appointment of "Reiner Tison Senr." to visit Germantown Friends.

In 1708, Reiner Tyson and Matthias Tyson are named in a list of "divers of the Protestants, or Reformed Religion, who were inhabitants of High and Low Germany, above Five and Twenty Years ago."

Cornelius Tyson of Germantown

(See Ancestral Chart No. 57-H.)

I.

CORNELIUS TYSON; b. about 1653, probably in Crefeld, Germany; d. May 9, 1716, aged 63; buried in Upper Germantown Burying-ground; m. Margaret —; living, 1716.

[Pubs. Pa. German Soc.; vol. IX, p. 192.—Phila. Will Book D, p. 54.—Pa. Mag., vol. IX, p. 88.]

Although his daughter Barbara was married in Friends' Meeting, there is no indication that Cornelius Tyson himself, or any other member of his family, was ever associated with Friends. No other mention of any of his family is found in the minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting; no record of his children is found in the vital records of the Meeting. Nor is there any mention in the Minutes of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting.

He was in all probability a Mennonite, or a Tunker, both of which sects were prominent in Germantown.

Cornelius Tyson probably did not come with the early settlers. His name is not among the residents of Germantown who were assessed under the "one-penny-per-pound" tax law in 1693.

[Pa. Mag.; vol. VIII, p. 98.]

Samuel W. Pennypacker, in giving lists of the residents of Germantown, with probable date of their arrival, first mentions Cornelius Tyson in 1703.

[Pubs. Pa. German Soc.; vol. IX, pp. 191-2.]

A Margaret Tissen, possibly his widow, contributed towards building the front wall of the Upper Germantown Burying-ground in 1724. This is where Cornelius lies buried, and his tombstone spells his name "TIESEN" (see below).

[Pa. Mag.; vol. VIII, p. 415.]

BURIAL PLACE

In "The Settlement of Germantown," Samuel W. Pennypacker gives a list of some of the residents, ending with Hermann Dors and Cornelius Tyson, and then remarks: "The last two appear to have come from Crefeld, and over Tyson, who died in 1716, Pastorius erected in Axe's graveyard at Germantown what is, so far as I know, the oldest existing tombstone to the memory of a Dutchman or German in Pennsylvania." In a footnote, he adds, "It bears the following inscription:

'Obijt Meiy 9, 1716
Cornelis Tiesen
Salic sin de doon
Die in den Here Sterve
Theilric is haer Kroon
Tgloric haer erve'."

[Pubs. Pa. German Soc.; vol. IX, pp. 191-2. Note: A photographic reproduction of this tombstone appears opposite page 192.]

"Cornelius Teisen, d. 1716, aet 63." This is the record as given in "Inscriptions in the Upper Germantown Burying-Ground," by Peter D. Keyser, M.D.; Pa. Mag., vol. IX, p. 88. In a foot-note, the author asks, "How did the body of Cornelius Tyson get in this ground? He died before Paul Wulff gave the lot for a burial-ground. It is said that Francis Daniel Pastorius had this stone put over his grave, and Pastorius died in 1720,—four years before this was made a graveyard."

MARRIAGE OF BARBARA TYSON

"At our Mo: Meeting ye 29: 5 mo. 1706.

[Minutes of Abington Mo. Mtg., Pa.; 1682-1746; p. 55.]

(Note: Although the foregoing record distinctly mentions "their Marriage Certificate," the date given is probably only that of the second declaration of intentions. See note by Gilbert Cope, in the front of these Minutes.)

* This is one of the several variations of the name of Kunders. In the sketch of the family the latter form has been used for the caption.

MARY TYSON

Mary Tyson (?), wife of Jan Lucken, of Germantown, (whom she married about 1683), has not been connected either with the family of Rynear Tyson, or with that of Cornelius Tyson. It seems probable, however, that she was a sister of the former.

"The Hallowell-Paul Family History" (p. 104), referring to Jan Lucken, says:

"His wife's Christian name was Mary; her surname is not known. The late Dr. Learned of the University of Pennsylvania and the late Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker both were of the opinion that she was Mary Tyson, sister of Reynier Tyson, which is highly probable."

The "Genealogy of the Descendants of Thomas French," by Howard Barclay French, says (vol. II, p. 361) that Jan Lucken "married in 1683 Mary —, probably Kunders, daughter of Thones Kunders, who had accompanied him to America. It has also been stated that he married Mary, sister of Rynear Tyson, who was likewise one of the company arriving on the 'Concord'."

"Colonial Families of America" (vol. V, p. 330) states that Jan Lucken "married about 1683, Mary, whose surname is believed to have been Tyson, tradition crediting her with being a sister of Reynier Tyson (Teisen)."

IMMIGRATION TO PENNSYLVANIA

"Thomas Walmsley and his brother, Henry Walmsley, were brought to this country by their parents, the one nine, and the other seven years old, with a younger sister, and landed in Burlington, N. Jersey, in 1682. Their father, Thomas Walmesley,* had conceived the idea of possessing himself of lands and water power in this country, and had purchased a tract of land on the Neshamony creek, in Bucks county, before he left England. He also brought with him such machinery as he thought could not be procured here, to facilitate the erection of mills, &c.; but being seized with dysentery, died within a fortnight after his arrival, aged forty years, and the young children were consequently left under the care of their mother. Thomas, when grown up, first settled in Bucks county, and married Mary Paxson, daughter of Wm. Paxson. He had two sons, Thomas and William, and seven or eight daughters. He possessed a large landed estate, in and near Byberry, and was esteemed as a man of wealth and respectability. He lived to the age of near eighty, and died 1754. Mary died in 1755, aged about seventy nine."

* "We happen to have at hand a copy of a certificate from Settle Monthly Meeting, Yorkshire, (the original of which is now in the possession of Robert Waln, Esq.) which we append, as it confirms the correctness of this part of the "Sketches"; and is worthy of preservation for its antiquity. We may further add, on the authority of the above named gentleman, that this party of Friends came to this country in the ship Welcome, with William Penn. The discrepancy in the number of children may perhaps be accounted for by deaths on the passage, as it is known that above thirty persons died of the small-pox during the voyage.

"THOMAS WALMESLEY AND HIS DESCENDANTS

Thomas, the elder son of Thomas, married Mary, daughter of William Paxson, in 1698, and settled first in Bensalem, probably on his father's farm, but not being satisfied he sold that place and bought fifty acres of Cross's patent in Byberry, recently owned by Charles Walmsley, one of his descendants. He removed to this place in 1703, and resided there the remainder of his life. He soon afterwards purchased fifty acres of the Tibby tract, one hundred and twenty-five acres of Henry English, and eight acres of Joseph Knight, where Robert Purvis now lives. He also owned two hundred and twenty-five acres in Middletown, Bucks County, fifty acres where Spencer Worthington now lives, a farm at the foot of Edge Hill, now William F. Ervin's, also four hundred acres in Buckingham. The latter farm was so far back in the woods that he traded with one of the Carvers for the lands lately belonging to Jesse Walmsley and William Walmsley, giving two acres for one. He was a farmer and dealer in horses, and was very successful in both. He is represented as a quiet, peaceable man, attending to his private business; and doing but little in the affairs of either Church or State. His house contained three rooms, which were built at different times; it was one story high, and was covered with oak shingles. He died in 1754, aged about 80 years. His widow died in 1755, aged 79 years."

ARMS OF WALTON OF OXHILL, WARWICKSHIRE

William Walton of Byberry†

(See Ancestral Chart No. 33-H.)

I.

"WILLIAM WALTON, the progenitor of the Walton family of Byberry, several of whose descendants migrated to the Great Swamp and other parts of Bucks County, was a resident of Oxhill, Warwickshire, England, when, together with Joseph Hunt of Stratford-upon-Avon, and William Hunt of Radway, all of the county of Warwick, he purchased of Edward Billynge of London, by deeds of lease and release, dated 9 mo. 22 and 23, 1682, a one-tenth share of the Proprietary of West Jersey, and by virtue of this deed a tract of land was laid out to him in Gloucester County, New Jersey. By his will executed in 1704 he devised his interests in the New Jersey lands to his four sons, Nathaniel, Thomas, Daniel, and William, all of whom were then residents of Philadelphia County.

The date of the arrival of the four Walton brothers in Pennsylvania and their subsequent settlement in Byberry Township has been very erroneously given by their different biographers, that date being fixed by some as early as 1675.

If they had located in Byberry at that date, and taken up land there, their names would have appeared upon Holme's Map of 1681-1690. It does not so appear, and the records show that they made their first purchases of land of Thomas Fairman (100 acres each; see Deed Book E2, Vol. 5, pp. 385-86-87-88, Phila.) on 10-1-1688. They probably † According to "Armorial Families of America," edited by Ernest Spofford (page 24), the Walton line descends from Thomas, of Oxhill, Warwickshire, England (will proved 1593), who had William, of Oxhill, who had Thomas, of Oxhill, who had William, of Oxhill, who died in England, and was the father of the four Walton brothers who settled in Pennsylvania.

The same authority quotes a letter from Oxhill Rectory, Kington, Warwickshire, England, as indicating that the Walton family originated at Walton in Warwickshire or the adjoining county of Gloucester.

The name Walton is said to be derived from wald, an old English word meaning wood, and ton, meaning town.

arrived in Pennsylvania in 1682 or 1683. These dates are indicated by a letter written by Nathaniel, the eldest of the brothers, to his youngest brother William, dated October 7, 1713, in which he reminds his brother that he had paid his passage from England and that he claimed interest on this payment for thirty years and upwards."

SKETCHES OF WILLIAM WALTON

"William Walton, the youngest of the four brothers, who was probably a minor on his arrival in Pennsylvania remained in Byberry, and was a preacher of Byberry Meeting, and travelled in that service to distant points. He left ten children, most of whom migrated to Warminster, Warwick and Buckingham in Bucks County, and to the neighborhood of Horsham in Montgomery County. His descendants are now widely scattered, but a greater proportion of them probably retained membership in the Society of Friends than the descendants of his brothers. His grandchildren and those of his brother Daniel intermarried."

[Early Friends Families of Upper Bucks; by Clarence V. Roberts; p. 574.]

William Walton.—"He was the first preacher of Byberry Meeting after the Keithian separation, and continued the principal, if not the only one, for the next forty years. But little account of his religious labors has been preserved; but his ministry met with the approval of the Meeting, and he was recommended as a minister. In 1717 he visited all the families belonging to Byberry Meeting; and in 1721, in company with Richard Busby, paid a religious visit to Maryland, Virginia and Carolina. This gave great satisfaction to those visited, and on his return he produced a certificate from meetings visited, stating that they 'felt great unity with his visit of love.' He again visited the families of Byberry in 1723, and was then accompanied by Henry Comly."

Jeremiah Walton lived in Moreland township, Philadelphia (now Montgomery) county. The "History of Byberry and Moreland" says (p. 373) that he "settled near Horsham." The records of marriage of his children, Sarah, Jeremiah and Jacob, call the father "Jeremiah, of Moreland, deceased." His wife Elizabeth, in her will, calls herself of "the Manor of Moreland." The "History of Montgomery County," edited by Theodore W. Bean, says (p. 976) that Jeremiah was "buried at Horsham." It is possible that the family homestead extended over the boundary, as Moreland and Horsham are adjoining townships. Horsham meeting-house was the nearest burial place of Friends.

ESTATE

Administration was granted to Elizabeth Walton, widow and relict of Jeremiah Walton, on the estate of said Jeremiah Walton, who died intestate. Letters dated 21 March, 1740.

William Washburn of Long Island, N. Y.

(See Ancestral Chart No. 35-H.)

BAP. 9 NOV. 1601^{I.} 30 OCT AT HEMPSTEAD, L. I.
 WILLIAM WASHBURN; b. —; d. about 1657; m. —, Jane^{NICHOLS} b. —;
 living, — 1666/7. BEINGEWORTH
 WORCESTERSHIRE, ENGL.

William Washburn first appears on Long Island in 1653. There seems to be some doubt as to the time of arrival there, and the place whence he came. Orcutt says ("History of the Old Town of Stratford"; p. 242): "Hope Washburn, son of William, of Mass., and perhaps of Stratford a short time, was made a freeman here at or before 1669." Savage, however, mentions ("Gen. Dict. of the First Settlers of New England"; vol. IV, p. 430) only one William Washburn, whom he calls of Stratford, and says that he removed, probably with his son John, to Hempstead, L. I. Farmer ("Gen. Register of First Settlers of New England"; p. 305) makes no mention of a William Washburn, except to quote a Mr. Wood as naming "William, John and Daniel Washburn among the first settlers of Oyster Bay."

There seems little evidence, therefore, that William Washburn was in either Massachusetts or Connecticut before coming to Long Island, although he may have been, before 1653. But as he was at Oyster Bay at the latter date, he can hardly have been at Stratford in 1655, as stated by Orcutt (p. 242) and by Sharpe ("The Washburn Family;" p. 4). Much less can he have moved "a few years later" to Hempstead, as he was dead in 1657, when Richard Willetts was present, with the widow Jane, at the reading of the will* of William Washburn, by John James, Town Clerk. ("Long Island Genealogies;" by Mary Powell Bunker; p. 72.)

"Washburne, William; came to Long Island with Rev. Mr. Leverich.†

1653, witness to Indian deed, Oyster Bay.

1654-5, signed petition with others; Memb. of Assembly at Hempstead.

I.

WILLIAM ap JOHN; b. in Wales; d. in Pennsylvania (?), before 1-1-1684/5; m. in Wales, Anne Reynald (?); b. —; buried at Merion Friends' burying-ground, 8-5-1685.

[Phila. Will Book A, p. 34.—Recs. of Radnor Mo. Mtg., 1680-1873; p. 22, of Births and Deaths.]

"William ap John, or William Jones, a yeoman, and widower, was residing in Bettws, in Merioneth, when he became a purchaser of 156¼ acres, in the Thomas & Jones tract, for £3 2s 6d. Witnesses to his deed, dated 1 April, 1682, being John Lloyd, Griffith Evan, Robert Lloyd and Reece Evan.

He came over in the 'Morning Star,' with the Hugh Roberts party, in 1683, bringing his children, and found 76½ acres laid out for him on the Schuylkill. He had about the same amount assigned to him in Goshen tp. There seems to be no proof that he ever resided on his Merion land, as he died shortly after coming over, his nuncupative will being sealed and proved at Philadelphia on 1 1 mo. 1684-5. He bequeathed his lands to his son 'John Williams,' and appointed Hugh Roberts and John Roberts, (of 'Pencoid'), trustees and guardians of his minor children. His wife is mentioned in his will as 'Ann Reynald, deceased'."

[Welsh Settlement of Pennsylvania; by Charles H. Browning; pp. 104-5.]

The foregoing statement is erroneous in several particulars. In the first place, as will be seen from the actual record below, there is no "will" of William Jones, in the sense of a written document, but only a verbal statement as to what his wishes were. This says positively, that whatever estate he or his wife died possessed of, "should be equally divided between their four children." This is quite different from saying that "he bequeathed his lands to his son John Williams."

Mr. Browning also says: "His wife is mentioned in his will as 'Ann Reynald, deceased'." A mere reference to the record shows that the two men who proved the substance of this verbal will of William Jones, also made known that it was equally the will "of their (the children's) late decd mother, Ann Reynald," that the property of both should be equally divided among the children.

As a widow, according to the Welsh custom, resumed her maiden name, it seems much more likely that Ann survived her husband, than that he should refer to his deceased wife by a family name other than his own! Another possibility is, that Ann remarried. The records of Radnor Monthly Meeting show that an Ann Rinalt was buried at Merion, 8-5-1685.

NUNCUPATIVE WILL OF WILLIAM JONES

1684-5 (?) 1st of 1st Mo., first year of Kings Reigne & the fifth of the Proprietary's Governmt., came Hugh Roberts of the Towne of Mairion, and John Roberts, same, feoffees in trust of John Williams, Alice, Katherine & Gwen Williams, orphan children of William Jones, their late father of Merionethshire in Wales, husbandman, decd., and made known that it was the will of their father and of their late decd mother Ann Reynald that whatever estate either died possessed of, should be equally divided between their four children, John Williams, Alice, Katherine and Gwen Williams, and that if any of them should die without issue, his share should be equally divided, between the survivors.

Inventory, 25th of 9th mo. 1685, by Wm. Howell and Edward Jones. 173£ 2s 6d.

[Phila. Will Book A, page 34.]

Another doubtful statement by Mr. Browning is, that William Jones came to Pennsylvania. The record distinctly calls him "of Merionethshire in Wales, husbandman, decd."

In "Merion in the Welsh Tract" (p. 65), Thomas Allen Glenn says: "William John, alias Jones, died either on shipboard or directly after his arrival in Merioneth." The former statement seems the more reasonable, for a nuncupative will, delivered in Wales, would scarcely have been made of original record here; and also, had William Jones died on shipboard, his last residence would still have been Wales, as stated in the record.

Glenn also says, "He refers to his deceased wife Ann Reynolds," showing that both he and Browning have fallen into the same error.

Having now shown that there was a William Jones, who had a son John Williams, we will present such evidence as there is, to show that the latter is identical with the John Williams who married Ellen Klincken (or Clinken).

II.

JOHN WILLIAMS; presumed son of William Jones, of Merionethshire, Wales; b. 5-17-1670; died 6-13-1740, "being 69 years of age"; m. 4-3-1696, at Germantown Meeting, Ellin Clinken; b. 6-14-1670, at Uttenkirk, Germany; d. 2-21-1736, at German-town, Philadelphia co., "being 65 years 8 months & 7 Days Old"; dau. of Aret Klincken, from Dalem, in Holland.

LANDS

"John Williams purchased, in 1716, one hundred and thirty-three acres of land in Cheltenham township, and in 1724 he made a second purchase of ninety-three acres. It is believed that the lands he held in Bristol township were part of the Klincken Tract, coming to his wife Ellen, daughter of Aret Klincken. The marriage certificate of John Williams and Ellen Klincken is now in possession of Charles Trump Among the witnesses, immediately following the names of the bride and groom, appear the name of Kathrine Williams, and Gwen — (her last name is illegible)."

[Genealogy of the Shoemaker Family of Cheltenham, Pa.; by Benjamin H. Shoemaker; p. 34.]

(Note: Mr. Shoemaker also gives data relative to the sale of lands in Lower Merion by a John Williams, supposed to have been identical with the John Williams of Cheltenham. Regardless of this, the evidence of the marriage certificate, quoted above by Mr. Shoemaker, seems strong enough to warrant our indicating the relationship of William Jones as father of John Williams, of Cheltenham, as a strong probability.)
